Rev. E. D. Moore,

Oct. 1845.

Br. Phelps,

71

Your letter came this (Wednesday) morning, too late for insertion this week. We go to press now - Wednesday morning instead of P.M. Your article shall appear in our next No., which will be about as well perhaps, for Beecher will not be through for several weeks. Your replies to Beecher & Stone will be admitted of course, & we agree with you that it will be wise to ^{exclude} replies from other sources. The discussion really is narrowed down to a point, as you say, & it is likely to be so managed now that it will be read with immense interest. It will promote the cause of truth, & cannot injure our private interests. You suggest that it ^{may} half our circulation, & I think it will if the Antislavery Public will avail themselves of so good an occasion to give us a lift. We have gaily got the lead of all other papers in their discussion, & I hope the public will notice & appreciate it. Please bring your articles within a column & a half, or thereabouts. We shall have entire new type in about three weeks, which will make a much handsomer sheet.

Mother, Fisher, & Fannie & wife, are with us now. Wife is quite unwell - threatened with a fever.

Love to all

Affly & Yours

E. D. Moore
